

As a number of educational resources produced in times gone by have moved into the public domain it is possible to make them freely available to a wide audience.

www.teacherLED.com is taking these resources and adding a little 21st century technology for use in the modern classroom. On the website you will find an interactive version of this material for use on the interactive whiteboard. There are also other supporting resources for this subject on the website. All are free to use with no registration required.

The material is presented here in a printable form for use in your classroom.

This is a printable resource derived from work that due to its age has moved into the public domain.

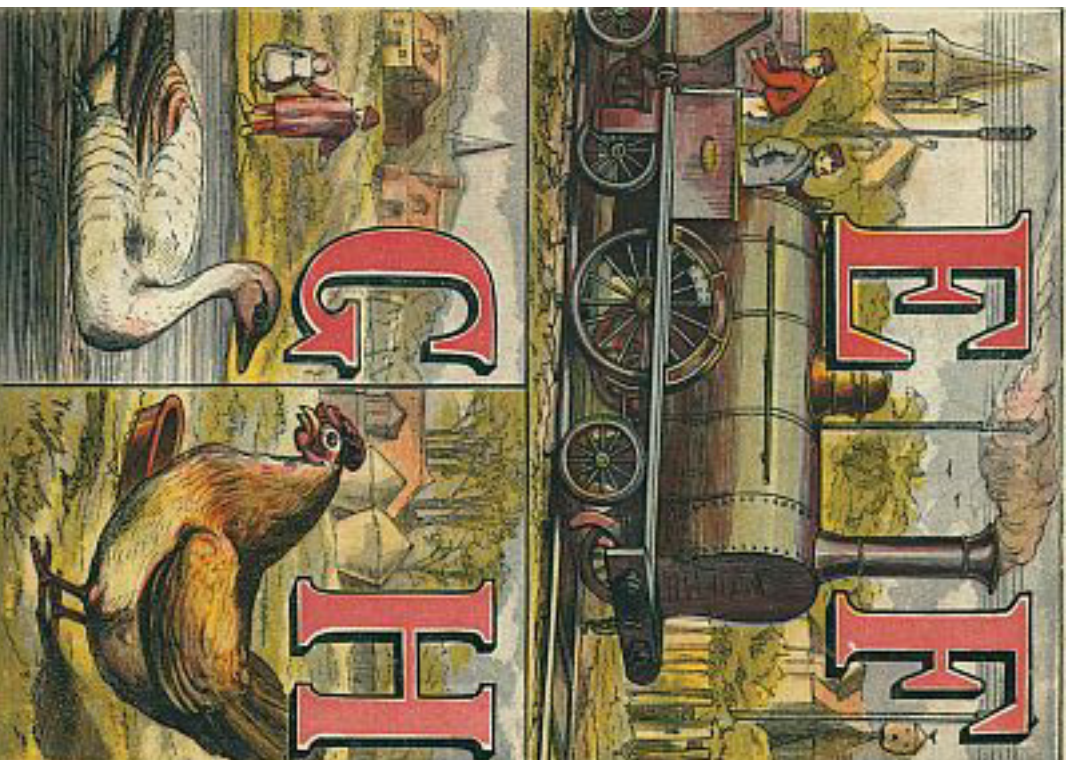

A for the Alphabet, A, B, C.

B for the Book that was given to me.

C for the Corn that stands in the stack.

D for the Donkey with cross on his back.

E for the Engine that's lighted with coke.

F for the Funnel that puffs out the smoke.

G for the Goose that swims on the pond.

H for the Hen, of her chickens so fond.back.

I for the Icicle, frosty and cold.

J for the Jackdaw, perky and bold.

K for the Kitten that plays with its tail.

L for the Letter that comes by the mail.

M for the Monkey, a comical thing.

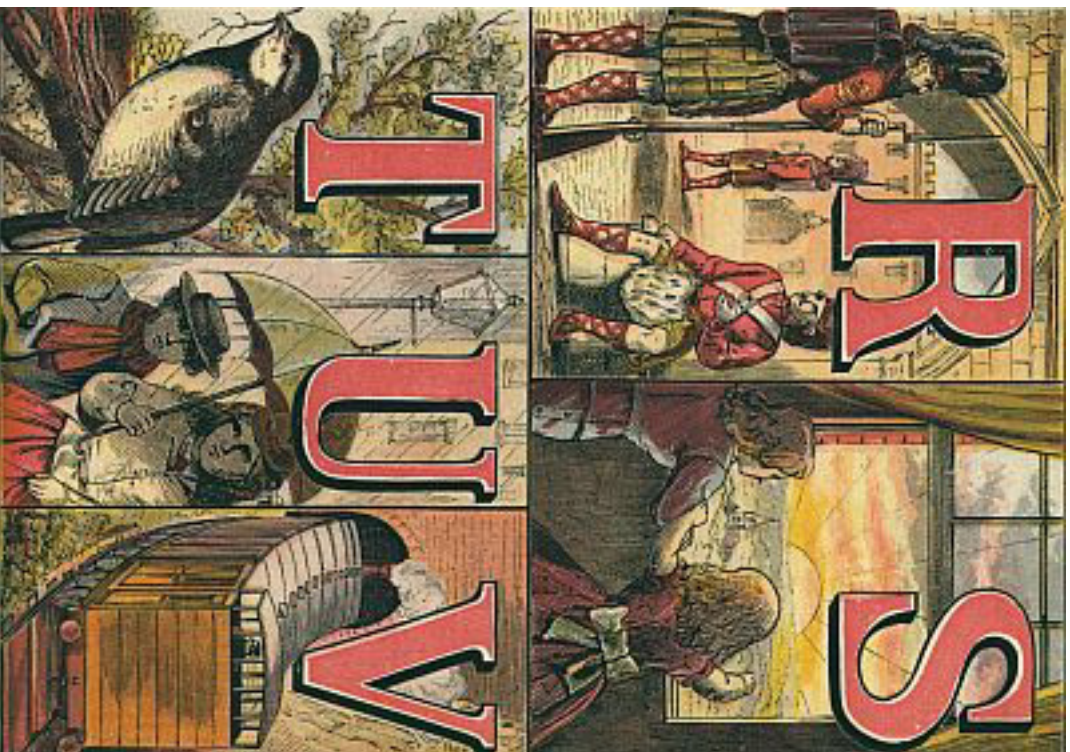

N for the Nut that he cracks with a grin.

O for the Owl that sees in the dark.

P for the Pony that plays in the park.

Q for the Queen all seated in state.

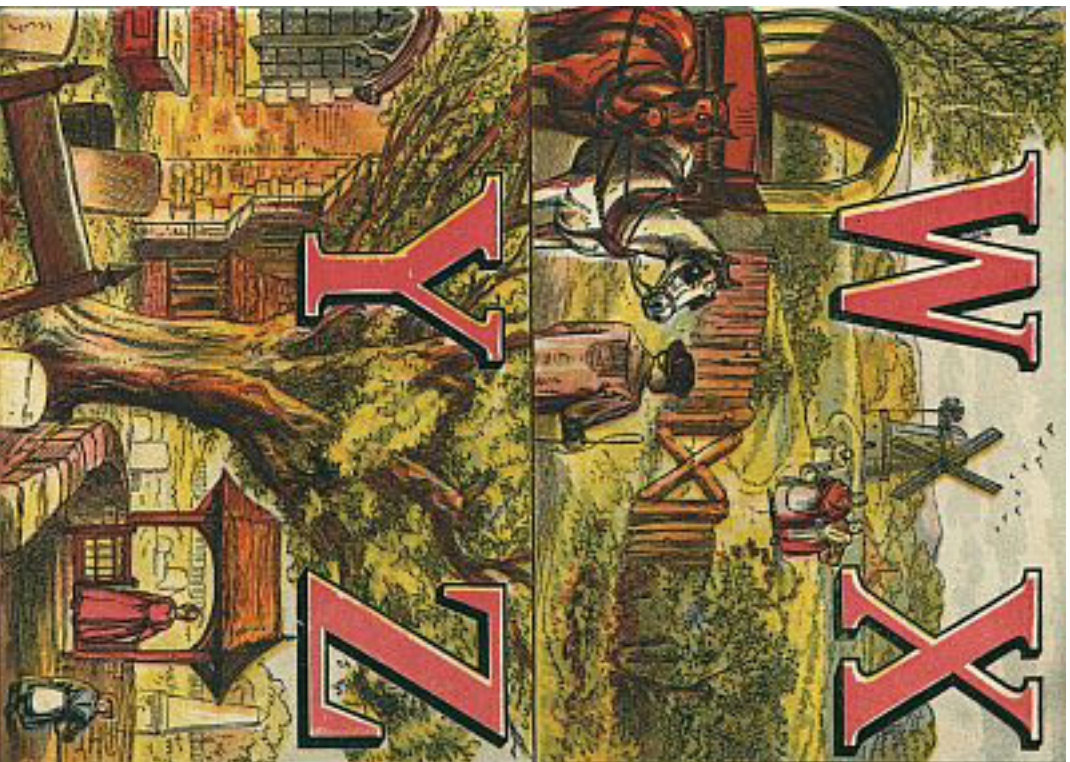

R for the Regiment guarding the gate.

S for the Sun that sets in the west.

T for the Tomtit building its nest.

U for the Umbrella that keeps off the rain.

V for the Van that follows the train.

W for the Waggon that waits in the way.

X is for none of the words I can say.

Y for the Yew growing by the church wall.

Z is for Zero, that's a nothing at all.